

MAGNETIC DEVICE HAVING A SPRINGABLE WINDING

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

The present invention provides a magnetic device employable with surface mount technology. In an advantageous embodiment, the magnetic device includes a magnetic core and a springable winding positioned about at least a portion of the magnetic core wherein the springable winding has a terminus biased against the magnetic core.